NINETEEN EIGHTY

The Beginning Of Our Decade

It's the beginning. You ask, "The beginning of what?" We reply, a beginning of many things.

To everything everywhere there seems to be a continuous beginning ... a beginning of new lives ... of new experiences ... of new undertakings ... of new friendships ... and of something very special this year — THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE ... 1980.

THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE brought events that colored the lives of many students ... the Sunshine Banquet brightened an evening for everyone involved — girls, boys, and teachers alike ... Homecoming brought royalty to the halls of Central in the form of the Queen and her court ... Play Day chased the blues away as activities were set up to get everyone outdoors and participating in unique contests ... the Washington Trip enlightened Juniors and Seniors because of the educational and travel opportunity as well as a day off from classes ... the Slumber Party kept everyone busy with all-night activities ... the Musical and Play proved there were hidden talents in AC musicians and actors ... the Prom created a dreamy effect for everyone who attended ... the Sr. Picnic brought the year to a close as did the graduation ceremony that saw seniors saying good-bye ... good-bye to Adams Central but hello to THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE ... 1980.

STUDENT LIFE

Valedictorian Lee Jesionowski addresses the seniors and their parents in his speech "Dear Mom and Dad."

Beth Coyne receives her diploma from Superintendent Doyle Lehman as Miss Baker reads the graduate's names.

The Boy's Quartet bring back fond memories while they sing "The Halls of Central."

Walking down the aisle during "Pomp and Circumstance," Jill Landis and Pam Miller reflect on past school experiences.

Graduation: Beginning Of An End

Senior members of the high school choir sing the song "Tomorrow" for their fellow classmates.

What's it mean to be a graduate? It means it's a time to be set free ... a time to choose what's best for you, whether it be marriage, college, work or what. It's a time to look back on what you've achieved, accomplished or neglected the past 12 years of your life ... a time to remember all the good times and even the bad. But graduation is more than just an ending of a part of your life ... it's a beginning. A beginning of you as an individual ... the beginning of a new life with new decisions ... and it's all just starting now in the Beginning of a Decade.

This year's graduation was a time for honoring students in the top ten, those who had won scholarships, or were accepted at colleges. Also, 8 recipients were awarded Adams Central Scholarships, each for the amount of $400. The winners were: Jeff Speakman, Beth Coyne, David James, Lee Jesionowski, Tracy Longenberger, Steve Myers, LaNae Smitley and Larry Strahm.

With looks of happiness and uncertainty, Shari Kaehr and Mike Morrissey take their walk down the aisle.

Betty Byerly Named 1979 Queen

As the fans began to fill the stands, September 21, there was much anxiety to be felt throughout the crowd. It was time for the crowning of the 1979 Homecoming Queen. A hush fell over the stands as a voice announced the name of Betty Byerly.

But not only was it a night for the crowning of a new queen, it was also a night for a super half-time show, presented by the Jets Marching Band. Following the band a parade of banners was displayed before the crowd. French Club placed first, Sophomores — second, and Sunshine — third in the third annual banner contest.

The main attraction of the night was the game against South Adams. The outcome was not one to be celebrated — the Jets came out on the short end of a 22-6 score.

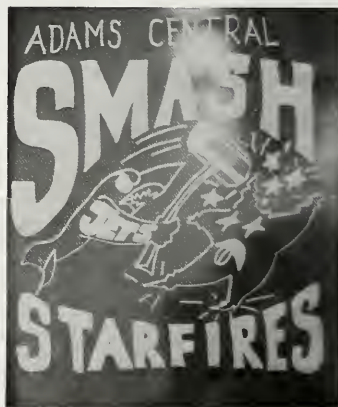

After the game the Student Council sponsored a dance for A.C. students and alumni.

Jrs.-Srs. Experience Washington

The Lincoln Memorial dwarfs Lori Hirschy and Rene Reidenbach.

Every other year the Juniors and Seniors venture to Washington, D.C. November 13 was the day that 105 students met at 4:30 a.m. in the parking lot to strike-out for the nation's capital. Three hours later the jet landed at Dulles Airport, a thirty minute drive from D.C.

Everyone's first stop was the Bureau of Engraving and Printing where millions of dollars were stored. The Capitol was the next stop. The tour included the Rotunda, Statuary Hall, and the House of Representatives. After the Capitol the buses split up, leaving the rest of the tour to the driver.

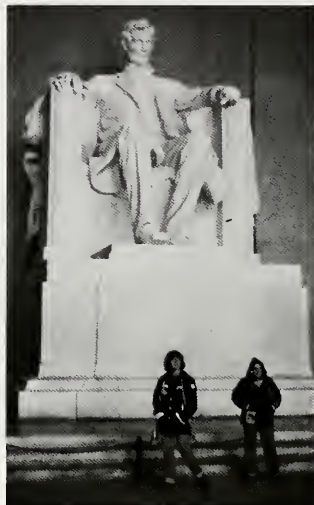

Most saw the Lincoln Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial, and the Washington Monument. Everyone was reunited temporarily at Schoall's Cafeteria for a hearty lunch before moving on.

Many students were allowed to ride on the subway that runs from the Pentagon to the Quadrangle.

Probably the single, most impressive event seen all day was the changing of the guard at the tomb of the unknown soldier. The mile long rows of tombstones only amplified the serious atmosphere there at Arlington Cemetery.

The second to last stop of the day was the Smithsonian Institute. The original replicas of everything from airplanes to zebras could be found in one of its seven buildings.

A short walk from the Smithsonian to the Archives Building was the last stop. The Declaration of Independence and many other documents important to the history of our country were on display there.

From the Archives Building it was back to a waiting DC-8 that brought everyone safely home.

Jeff Yoder, Julie Isch, and Lisa Clark rest while they wait for the bus to take them to the airport.

The Capitol Building stands in all its splendor and glory.

A group of seniors "pose" in front of the Jefferson Memorial.

The changing of the guards appears to be quite a formal ritual.

The beauty and tranquility of Arlington Cemetery makes it a perfect resting place for our veterans.

While the unsuspecting Mr. Glass shares a joke with Shari Kaehr, Mark Johnson contemplates on whether the time is right to strike.

Tim Busse begins to step into the pitch while Beth Coyne displays the proper catching position.

Mark Donaghy prepares to make the big jump, as a group of seniors look on.

Picnic — Relief For Seniors

On May 15, after graduation practice the seniors left on their last field trip to the Huntington Reservoir for the Senior Picnic. While the seniors waited for the meal to arrive, they played football, volleyball and frisbee. Others just enjoyed soaking up the warmth of the sun. After the meal a rough game of softball was organized. Finally to end the picnic a few daring souls lived out their swashbuckling fantasies by swinging out over the reservoir and dropping in for a swim. On the other hand a few unwilling girls took a swim courtesy of some rowdy boys.

Mike Morrissey screams in anticipation of the icy cold water.

Mark Donaghy, Chad Bluhm, Jan Mitchel, and Mike Morrissey are about to show Carrie Liby the many benefits of swimming with clothes on.

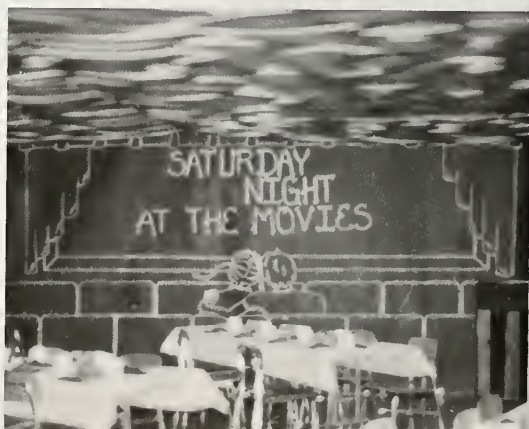

Sponsor, Miss Baker, makes a last minute survey of the murals.

Now Showing . . .

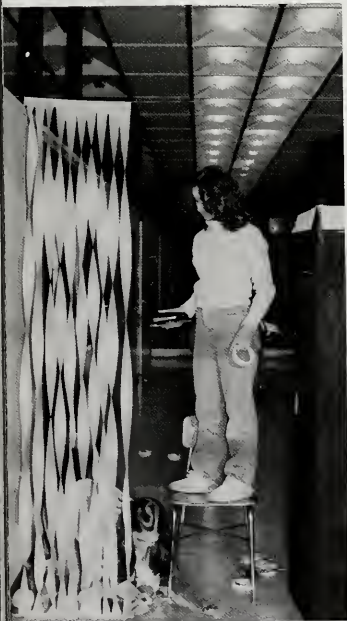

Sunshine members and their guests enjoy the meal prepared by Gerber's.

Saturday Night at the Movies was the theme chosen by the Sunshine girls for their annual Banquet, held March 15.

Brad Affolder initiated the evening's activities by taking the girls and their dates' pictures in front of the famous Chinese Theater.

Sunshine President Donna Hack welcomed members and guests, followed by Lee Jesionowski who expressed his thanks on behalf of the guys for the invitations extended to them. Elinor Sprunger offered prayer and Chester Longenberger provided dinner music while Gerber's catered the swiss steak meal.

A film festival with Laurel and Hardy, Bugs Bunny and W.C. Fields provided entertainment following the meal. "Break Away" presented music for the dance that lasted until midnight, which brought another successful Sunshine Banquet to a close.

President Donna Hack applies the finishing touches to the wall murals.

Tracy Longenberger waits patiently for Pam Miller to finish taping the crepe paper to the floor.

Baker's Dozen Brings Success

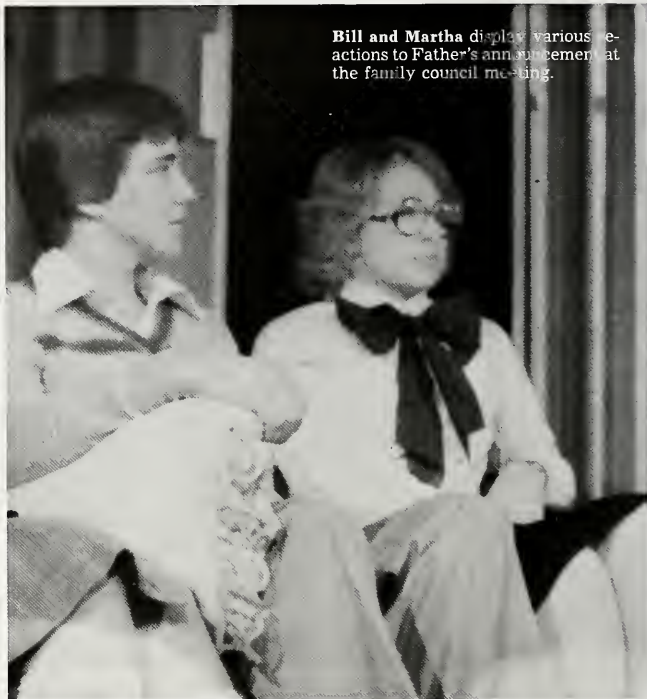

Under the direction of Miss Baker, the drama club presented the play, "Cheaper by the Dozen." The story centered on a family with twelve children in the 1920's. The father was rather conservative and over-protective, and his teenage daughters felt that he was only trying to ruin their social lives. The results were often hilarious. The boys, being typical brothers, often teased and antagonized their sisters, but mother often interceded to father on behalf of the girls. Eventually the family members grew to love and understand one another. Part of the audience even found their eyes filled with tears in the final scene as father left for Europe.

Drama Club Officers were:
 President — Kris Vandeventer
 Vice-President — Dan Lambert
 Secretary/Treasurer — Ronda Byerly

Playday . . . Afternoon Delight

A dizzy LaNae Smitley attempts to finish her rounds in the bat race.

Marlene Steffen collapses with exhaustion as she hears that she has to compete again.

Competition was fierce between the two senior teams during the human pyramid building contest.

To get away from the regular "hum-drum" school routine, students participated in a playday held on the football field. They enjoyed such events as a sack race (won by Dove Vanhorn), bat race (Doug Call's team), and blanket race (Jez's team).

The team of Mark Donaghy and Tracy Longenberger were the sole survivors of the "chicken fight," while a team of persistent Juniors won the pyramid build, and the Jez team conquered all in the chug-a-lug contest. Donna Hack was dethroned as the marshmallow stuffer by Jill Isch, who crammed 56 of the things in her mouth.

Playday was concluded with a tug-of-war which the Sophomores won.

A team of Sophomore girls struggle along in the blanket race.

Senior girls wait anxiously for the next and final event — the tug-of-war.

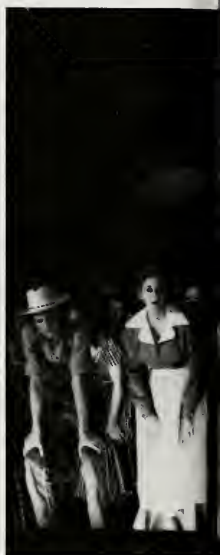

Rowdy students desperately try to outdo one another in the "Chicken Fight."

Oklahoma — Hooray!

The expression of excitement shines across the faces of the OKLAHOMA cast in their final scene.

Fa Carnes (Larry Strahm) sings "The Farmer and the Cowman" trying to patch up broken friendships.

"What makes you think I wanna take you to the box social?"

Jud, (David James) sings of his lonely life as a farm hand.

The chant of OKLA-HOMA raises to the ceiling and the ears of an anxious audience.

Trapped by his love life, Ali Hakim, (Kerry Arnold) shows disgust by singing "It's a Scandal".

Square dancers liven up the set for the box social.

The second musical production to come to the Adams Central "little theatre", was staged on April 24-26. Director, Neil Potter chose Rodgers and Hammerstein's OKLAHOMA as the play.

Curly, (Jeff Speakman) had the leading male role, while Carrie Liby took the leading female role as Laurie. Will Parker, (Max Barger) and "dizzy" Ado Annie, (Jani Haney) added a lot of laughs to their part of the show. Betty Byerly played the part of a loving Aunt Eller, and in many instances accompanied Pa Carnes (Larry Strahm) in several songs.

The people in the chorus, the back stage-crews and the talented orchestra all added to the shows performances. Clarice Kober, the choreographer of the show did all of the work with the dances, including the dream ballet.

The play came off as a complete success with sell-out crowds every night.

1980 Prom Queen and King — Tracy Longenberger and Doug Kaehr

Cheryl Bluhm and Jeff Speakman culminate the evening's meal with an after dinner "smack."

The elaborate Scottish Rite Ball Room was an ideal place to hold the junior-senior prom.

This fun-filled evening started with the meal, followed by the crowning of the king and queen, which were Doug Kaehr and Tracy Longenberger. The local band WKKJ performed for the three hour dance. Pictures of the evening were taken by Brad Affolder.

Next on the agenda was the movie, "Heaven Can Wait," shown at Southtown Mall. By two-thirty A.M. it was time to head further south for bowling at Villa Lanes, which ended the romantic evening, and the "Stairway to Heaven."

Beth Coyne is the first to congratulate Tracy Longenberger as she is announced 1980 Prom Queen.

Moving to the beat of the band, Jodi Holtsberry and Brett Brunner boogie.

Jrs. Create "Stairway To Heaven."

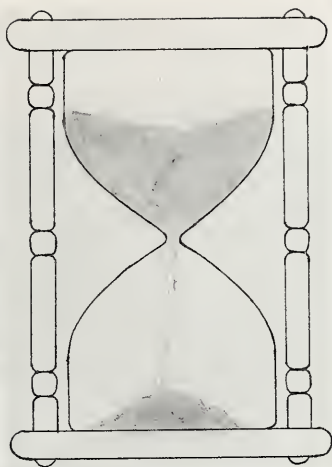

The candidates of the prom court gather together after the coronation.

Jill Johnson and Jeff Yoder exchange a warm smile before beginning dinner.

The band "WKKJ" provide the dance music for the evening's entertainment.

THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE brought activities for every kind of student ... for the academically oriented student, NHS provided an opportunity for these students to be honored ... for girls interested in serving others, the SSS enabled them to express charitable actions

... FCA let students acknowledge the fact that they are Christians living in a competitive world ... the Foreign Language Clubs allowed students to explore different languages and cultures of countries they had studied in class

... much exploring was also done in FFA where Agriculture students applied skills taught in classrooms ... and for the spirited student, Pep Club offered a chance to support many athletic teams ...

All activities were the beginning of friendships, of responsibilities, and THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE ... 1980.

ORGANIZATIONS

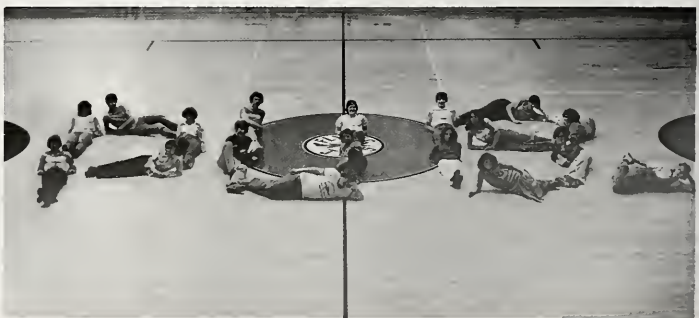

“P-U-B” Spells Dedication!

Donna Hack and Tracy Longenberger revise a spread for Lynne Waltmire.

Sorting underclass “mugs” to complete another page for the yearbook occupies Lee Jesionowski’s time.

Because only eighteen students were in school Pub, each person was responsible for more than his share of work. Between one yearbook and eighteen issues of the newspaper, the staff had its hands quite full. But the yearbook, under the leadership of Editor Pam Miller, Copy-editor Tracy Longenberger, and Design-editor Donna Hack, still came out on time. And the Jet Stream never missed a print date thanks to Editor Cam Erikson, Assistant-editor Dan Lambert, Feature-editor Lee Jesionowski, and Sports-editor Rick Childs. Of course the rest of the staff made great contributions of time and effort to the success of our school’s publications.

The staff always gives its "undivided" attention to Mr. Markley during a planning session.

Student Council Governs School

On swap day, Kristi Vandeventer and Beth Coyne assumed the role of Guidance Counselor and Principal.

The Government of the student body is the Student Council. It was headed by Lee Jesionowski (president), Beth Coyne (vice president), and Kerry Arnold (secretary/treasurer).

New activities were planned this year such as student council — administration swap day. Another new feature was exchange days with Lincolnview student council; they came here one day and our student council went there later.

The same traditional events took place also: Play Day, and the Slumber Party.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Acting as Middle School Guidance Counselor, Rick Childs checks over IQ tests.

Sunshine Puts "Others" First

Rowena Stucky presents the Sunshine Girl of the Year Award to Tracy Longenberger at the Ideal Ladies Tea.

As the 1979-80 year began the girls remembered the year's theme, "Put Sunshine In Your Life." The girls gave of their time by visiting the county home once a month, distributing favors to teachers, sending gifts and money to their adopted children. Also most of the SSS money was donated to the Riley's Children Hospital, March of Dimes, and other local charities.

This year the Rowena Stucky Scholarship was given to Tracy Longenberger. She also was awarded the Sunshine Girl of the Year Award. Joyce Weber received an $800 District II Nurse's Scholarship.

1979-80 Sunshine Officers were as follows: President — Donna Hack, Sponsor — Susanne Gilbert, Vice-President — Elinor Sprunger, Sponsor — Anna Baker, Treasurer — Tracy Longenberger, Corresponding Secretary — Linda Myers, Recording Secretary — Deb Smith.

FFA Slave Sale Brings In $1500

President Dan Weber listens to state reporter Jim Gerardot speak at the FFA Parent-Member Banquet.

The Future Farmers of America held their annual Thanksgiving food drive at school. They collected many boxes of food and after their Thanksgiving program, several members delivered ten baskets of food to needy families in the area. The FFA Slave Sale also went well and brought in over $1500. The FFA also conducted a Parent-member Banquet, at which the FFA awards were presented. This year's FFA Sweetheart was Lou Ann Aschliman. Both the poultry and the soil judging teams did well at the area contests and competed in the state competition.

The officers elected for 1980 were:

President — Dan Weber
1st Vice-President — Scott Taylor
2nd Vice-President — Marvin Nussbaum
Secretary — Dudley Vanhorn
Treasurer — Lori Becher

Lifeguards Do It With A Splash

Several lifeguards helped coach the AAU swim team.

"Reach, Throw, Row, Go" are four rules of lifeguarding. The seven guards displayed their alertness and guidance in supervising open swims and many pool rentals.

Along with their normal duties the lifeguards also helped their instructor, Tom Hough, in coaching the AAU Swim Team and also taught swimming in the spring.

A-V Center Turns On School Mediums

An exchange program with South Adams and Belmont was initiated this year by A-V coordinator Gene Chronister. This program was designed to give all three schools involved access to more tapes.

A machine designed by Mr. Chronister that made 1/2" tapes from 1" tapes was put into heavy use.

Two or three students were scheduled to run the center every period so that the "learn by doing" process was emphasized. The primary goal of the A-V center is to make it a learning experience.

Marvin Nussbaum cues up a tape as Ron King checks the T.V. monitors.

Oktoberfest Raises $250

The 28 member German Club comes together for an annual group picture.

President Lou Ann Aschliman combines talent with perseverance in preparing the cakewalk for the annual Oktoberfest.

Several German club members played German music at the Oktoberfest.

A night of bowling was just one activity that German club members enjoyed.

The Oktoberfest proved to be successful for the German Club this year as they raised over $250. Other German Club projects included the annual Christmas caroling at the Swiss Village Nursing Home, with Miss Swartzendruber hosting a Christmas party afterwards, two visits to the Heidelberg Restaurant, a pizza and bowling party, the Foreign Language Festival with the Spanish and French Clubs, and a German Club picnic in June.

The officers for this year were:
President — Lou Ann Aschliman

Vice-President — LaNae Smitley

Secretary—Joyce Weber

Treasurer — Adam Miller

A smooth plane ride to Mexico lulls Beth Kipfer into a deep sleep.

A trip to Mexico highlighted the year's events for Spanish Club members. It took place during Spring Vacation and the members visited such cities as Acapulco and Mexico City, where they enjoyed sightseeing, sunbathing, and just having a good time. Eighteen students went on this trip. To earn money for this adventure, the club members sold stationery early in the school year.

Other activities that the Spanish Club sponsored or participated in were the Chili/Oyster Super, and the Foreign Language Festival. The Spanish Club had approximately eighty members and was sponsored by Susan McKenzie.

This year's small but mighty French Club, under the guidance of Miss Baker, partook of several activities. In January, they traveled to the Epicurean Restaurant in Fort Wayne to enjoy a French meal. Later in the year they visited Miss Baker's home to cook a French meal of their own. They also participated in the Foreign Language Festival with the German and Spanish Clubs.

Small Pep Band Big In Spirit

This year's Pep Band kept the crowd in high spirits and everyone at the basketball games "boogying down" to such songs as Jet, Macho Man, YMCA, TSOP, Soul Man, and On Wisconsin. This dedicated group of musicians also played during school pep sessions and fired everyone up for the coming games.

Carnival Helps FCA Raise

By sharing thoughts and feelings, the Girls' and Boys' FCA Groups were able to grow individually as well as spiritually. They held meetings separately and jointly and were very active as organizations. Once again, they sponsored a Carnival to raise money for Cystic Fibrosis. This turned out to be a huge success as well as a lot of fun for everyone involved. By giving a part of themselves, they were able to give something more to others.

The sponsors for the two FCA Groups were Barry

Humble and Audrey Swartzendruber while the Boy's FCA officers were:

THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE brought success to AC athletic teams and their athletes ... The Cross Country team captured the Adams County Championship while sophomore Sam Kaehr won honors at the Sectional with a first, and, at the Regional with a second place finish ... The Varsity Football team won three of its last four games, including a 16-13 victory over a tough Southern Wells squad ... The girls Basketball team initiated a new coach with a new system highlighted by a victory over Eastside ... The Varsity boy basketball squad won six while losing several closely contested games, including one to Winchester in five overtimes ... The boys and girls track teams combined numbers and talents to represent AC in the conference events ... A new tennis coach molded inexperience into "Tracy Austin's" ...

... But most of all the wrestlers again won the ACAC, finished second in the Sectional and fourth in the Regional ... Lynn Fiechter lost a single match — that in the finals of the State tournament — to finish at 27-1 and a silver medal, the highest finish ever for any AC BAGUBA ...

... All this and more happened in THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE ... 1980.

SPORTS

Mid-Season Turn Around

More than just a few games were won this year in Varsity Football. The 45 members of the squad learned how to take defeat gracefully and they learned that no matter how bad their record was, they were always winners. After evening their record at 1-1 the Jets went on a five game losing streak. This ended with the surprise upset of Southern Wells 16-13, for the third year in a row. The Varsity went on to win two of their last three games.

"The main thing about this season is that we were in every game, and that we never quit until the time ran out," said Coach Minnich about the season. He also stated, that he was closer to this year's seniors than he had been to any others.

The team members chose Lee Jesionowski as their Most Valuable Lineman. Lee was also voted All-conference Defensive Lineman.

Rick Valencia also received All-conference honors as Offensive Back, and just like Lee, Rick was voted Most Valuable at this position by his teammates. Two others received honorable mention: Brett Brunner at Offensive Line and Defensive Back and Curt Main at Defensive Line.

The Jets finished 4-6 overall and 3-4 in Conference play. They also finished 6th in the ACAC.

Teamwork: Key To JV Success

Football's future here at Adams Central looks very promising. The J-V Football Team had its best season with a 6-2 record. The main keys to their success were the running of Nick Ringger, who rushed for 540 yards, and the defensive play of Eric Lehman and Jim Jesionowski.

At the Fall Sports Banquet Eric Lehman was awarded Most Valuable Player by his teammates. The important fact to remember about the season is that all 22 members of the team played a reasonable amount of time; this will help the Varsity next year by providing them with experienced players.

Small Numbers Hurt Record

As always the Freshmen Football team had under twenty members: to be exact they had thirteen players, yet this did not stop them from playing their very best in every game. The Freshmen Team finished with a 2-4-2 record, but this really doesn't show how good they were. In almost every game, the Freshmen Jets were close to their opponents until the last minutes. The team voted Tim Ross as their Most Valuable Player; Tim and other players will be in contention for starting spots on the varsity team next year.

Kaehr Leads Harriers To Crown

Thanks to the dedication of two Seniors, two Juniors, two Sophomores, and one Freshman, not to mention the tremendous contributions of Coach Steve Mugg, this was the most successful season in the history of Cross Country at A.C.

The seven young men reached nearly all of their goals and came very close in the rest. Bringing home the County Championship was probably the most satisfying of these goals.

Sophomore Sam Kaehr was the center of attention at the end of the season when he won the South Adams Sectional, finished second at the Fort Wayne Regional, and forty-ninth at the Fort Wayne Semi-state. During the course of the season Sam broke the school record twice, won the ACAC, Bi-County, and County meets, and went undefeated from September 12 to October 20.

Consistency and confidence comes with experience and maturity — two things that are vital to a successful season. The Varsity Girls' Volleyball Team was young and lacked consistency, which led to their record of 8-18. But Mrs. Carr felt the skills were much improved over last year and they worked much better as a total unit on the court.

The team selected Betty Byerly and Beth Coyne as co-captains. Betty also received all-conference honorable mention along with Cheryl Rich and Deb Kahlert. At the Fall Sports Banquet, the Serving Award went to Laura Middendorf and Deb Kahlert received the Most Valuable Player Award.

Jets Take Belmont And Drop Five

The record for this years Varsity Basketball team did not show the real story. Although the team went 6-14 on the season, this was not an indicator of the potential the Varsity cagers possessed. Just a few mistakes in certain games kept them from winning more games and as Coach Bantz stated at the Winter Sports Banquet, "Sure we could have played an easier schedule, but I felt that we needed more competition."

Also at the Sports Banquet, Mike Cooper was awarded Most Valuable Player, the Robert Shoup award, and received trophies for his free throw percentage and field goal percentage. Brett Brunner earned the Best Defensive Player award.

Two other important honors were bestowed upon Mike Cooper. Mike was selected as All-Conference guard for second year in a row and he was voted to the Academic All-State team.

A sparkling 10-6 record and a six-game mid-season winning streak by the Junior Varsity Basketball Team left many fans with high hopes for next year's Varsity squad. The outstanding record was reflected in the year-end team stats. Recovered loose ball, turn over, drew charge, steal and personal foul numbers showed the team quickness and aggressiveness.

Gary Mitchel, who led the team in seven categories, including total points, rebounds, and steals, was voted Most Valuable Player and Best Defensive Player. Gary Nussbaum was honored for having the most hustle.

This year's freshmen basketball team consisted of only eight members. However, what the team lacked in numbers they made up for it in desire, courage, and hustle. The lack of more players was one of the factors contributing to their 3-11 season. The three wins were important wins because they came at the end of the season. The wins showed that the freshmen still had the desire to win, and that their hard work finally paid off.

Ron Wilks was voted Most Valuable Player while Mark Hamilton was voted Best Defensive Player. Matt Dick was named the Player with the most hustle.

Board strength helped overcome Eastside in the Jets' lone victory.

The 1979-80 Girls' Basketball team had a tough time this year. First of all there were no returning lettermen from last year's team. This lack of experience helps explain why the squad ended with a 1-16 record. The lone win came against Eastside in a come-from-behind overtime victory.

This year the Reserve team consisted of nine members. The team came alive by the end of the season with 2 wins over Carroll and Eastside. The Reserve team ended with the record of 2-11.

During the Winter Sports Banquet, Laura Middendorf was presented the Most Valuable Player trophy for the Varsity. Julie Litmer received the trophy for the Reserve team.

A football game between girl and boy cheerleaders adds excitement to the Homecoming pep session.

Few people realize that the cheerleading season lasts a total of ten months. It is a season full of highs and lows. The past year, one of the surprises, began as they added a little "class" to the Varsity squad by gaining seven new male faces at all of the games. By throwing, lifting, boosting, and sometimes even dropping the girls, it added some flare to the overall spirit.

The J.V. and Varsity girls squad held a car wash last summer, to which all profit went toward the purchase of new uniforms and summer camp. They also sold placemats which boosted the budget considerably.

Though the golf team shattered many records, and was one of the best AC has seen, it was still a disappointing season. Against Churubusco they shot a 161, thirteen shots better than the previous record, but they were still defeated by 10 strokes. In the ACAC they broke the old 18-hole record by 14 only to place seventh. Kerry Arnold set a new record low score for an AC golfer with a 37 against Churubusco.

They finished 4-11 overall and 2-5 in the conference. The JV's had a more successful season finishing 5-5.

Bruce Gagle received medalist honors for the year, while Lee Jesionowski was given the Most Improved Award.

Braun, Yoder Leads Marksmen

Senior captain Lori Braun and sophomore Scott Yoder led the team in almost every category.

Senior rifle team member Lori Braun earned a sixth place trophy in the prone position at the state meet to highlight an otherwise disappointing year. Lori came just 5 points away from winning the event. Lori was also the 17th highest individual, overall, in the state.

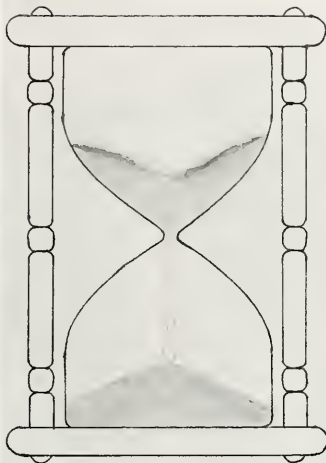

Even with this terrific showing sophomore Scott Yoder edged Lori out for the top gun award. Team members voted Lori in as the captain.

Overall, the Leonard Stepp coached team finished with a 1-7 record and a 4th place finish at the annual tri-county rifle match.

Rifle practice also heats up sibling rivalry as Lori Braun uses sister Anita for a live target.

THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE brought individuality to the people that made up our high school ... each class, whether it be freshman, sophomore, junior or senior, tried to create an identity unique from any other class ... competition always existed between students fighting for something they dreamed of or believed in, whether it be scholastically, athletically, socially, or emotionally ...

... through all of these experiences, everyone somehow realized that they were all joined together into one unit — Adams Central High School ... and by recognizing this fact, people looked for new and better ways to improve themselves and their school as they looked toward the beginning of friendships, opportunities, and THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE ... 1980.

The Golden Chain Of Friendship

Friendship is a Golden Chain,
The links are friends so dear,
And like a rare and precious jewel
It's treasured more each year ...

It's clasped together firmly
With a love that's deep and true,
And it's rich with happy memories
And fond recollections, too ...

Time can't destroy its beauty
For, as long as memory lives,
Years can't erase the pleasure
That the joy of friendship gives ...

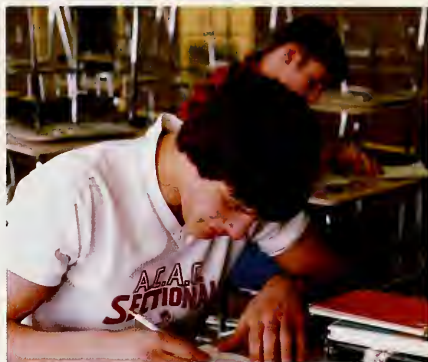

For friendship is a priceless gift
That can't be bought or sold,
But to have an understanding friend
Is worth far more than gold ...
And the Golden Chain of Friendship
Is a strong and blessed tie
Binding kindred hearts together
As the years go passing by.

— Helen Steiner Rice

Beginning The Decade With The Class Of 1980 . . .

. . . At Work

. . . At Play

. . . In Action

It's Time To Begin Again!

With the beginning of a decade at hand, we see that there are many roads which the class of '80 will have to travel.

As the day approaches when we come to those crossroads in the highway of life, we find that not all of us are going to use the same map. We all have the opportunity to make the same choice, but the choice is ours to make.

The journey may take us down many thoroughfares such as marriage, which may be the destiny of many. But life doesn't stop there for all of us. Some may choose to achieve a high level of education while others want to venture off in the working world.

But as the world changes, so do our plans as we walk this earth. Some of us may take a detour and trudge willingly or unwillingly off to war.

And as we begin to realize our destinies in life we will approach a better understanding of ourselves and the world around us.

Under the leadership of class officers President — Lisa Clark, Vice-President — Elinor Sprunger, Treasurer — Andy Lehman, and Secretary — Mike Gremaux, the Junior class proved themselves unique from any other class by topping the magazine sales this year. They accomplished setting a new record for AC by selling almost $13,000 worth of magazines.

They also sold concessions at all home basketball games to earn enough money to sponsor the Jr.-Sr. prom.

The sophomore year is another step up in the climb to graduation. Sports, driving, and friendships all become an important part of a sophomore's life.

Most of the athletes of the class of '82 began their first year of varsity competition. The class showed a high rate of participation as 69 out of 106 students in the tenth grade were a member of some athletic team. More than half of the varsity and reserve football players were sophomores.

A mock wedding in Health class and first place in the Sectional Hall decorations also highlighted the year.

Class officers were as follows:

President — Cari Parrish
Vice-President — Joe Fuelling

Freshmen Begin Again

Being a freshman was a little scary, yet it was a lot of fun. Most of all, it was exciting and unique. It was like starting all over again. By joining the high school crowd, they had to get use to new ideas and new ways. The freshmen accomplished many things as individuals but as a class they won first place in the annual FFA Thanksgiving Food Drive and second place in the Sectional Hall Contest.

THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE brought variety to every student's life as he was able to choose his own courses, feeling more reliable and confident in himself. Because of the large selection of courses to choose from, there was always something that interested every individual ...

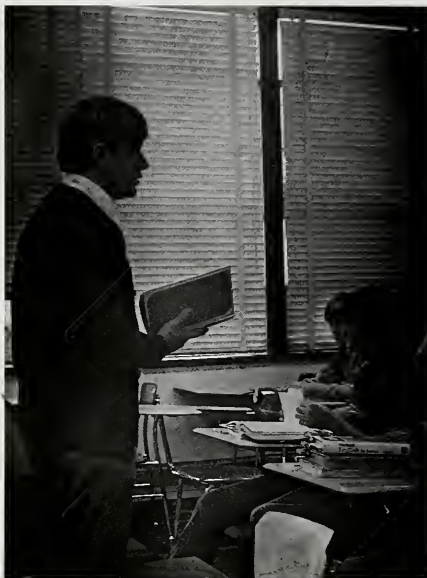

... English, a required course for Freshmen and Sophomores still gave Juniors and Seniors freedom to choose from various elective courses ... Math selections varied from Practical Math to Senior Math ... Science "majors" could opt from Biology, General Science, Chemistry, Advanced Biology or Physics ... Foreign Language students had the opportunity to pick from Spanish or German, enabling them to understand other cultures besides just American ... U.S. History and Government required everyone to learn of the world around them ... Career Education helped students learn more about themselves and what type of career would best suit them for the rest of their lives ...

ACADEMICS

English . . . Whoo Kneads its?!!

Mr. Reinking poses a grammar question to his freshmen students.

Tonya McCullough displays the model of the Globe Theater for sophomore lit.

Comp students make use of the Fort Wayne Library's facilities to do research on their term papers.

The proper technique in pole vaulting is the topic of Ken McCullough's speech demonstration.

Michelle Noll displays the trophy she was awarded by the V.F.W. for capturing the county "Voice of Democracy" contest.

English became more than just learning verbs, adjectives and nouns while using them correctly in sentences. Writing term papers properly, developing a better vocabulary and learning about life through studying literature were all goods that students mastered.

Ninth and tenth graders were required to study grammar, literature, writing, and speech but activities and techniques varied as Mr. Reinking and Mrs. Wharton (who replaced Miss Hull after the first nine-weeks) guided their students.

Juniors and seniors were allowed to choose electives depending on their own interests and abilities. Advanced speech offered students an oral outlet for improving English. Composition prepared seniors for a college writing class. Other electives gave each student the opportunity to "master" English the best way possible.

Brad Harruff tries desperately to help his teammates identify his charade.

James Huser and Marvin Nussbaum use their study hall time to cram for a mass media quiz.

A New Meaning For Art

New techniques were learned and put to use this year in the art department. A wide variety of methods for painting, making pots, and hooking rugs were learned. The final products were put on display during the Music Loyalty program and each week a different display was put in the showcase outside the art room.

The basics of shading and values were used for sketching by the beginning students and for the advanced students all that knowledge was put together to form bigger projects.

A new understanding of art and its history put a new meaning to the word "art."

Oil painting proves to be quite a task for Donna Hack.

Silk Screening takes time and patience for Linda Braun.

Simona Lambert works diligently in Studio Art.

Arranging dried flowers is a tedious job for Jill Landis as she glues them down.

Troy Zimmerman shows his technique for hooking a rug.

Patty Fawbush hooks a rug for crafts class.

Pottery seems to amuse Cari Parrish as she works on her project.

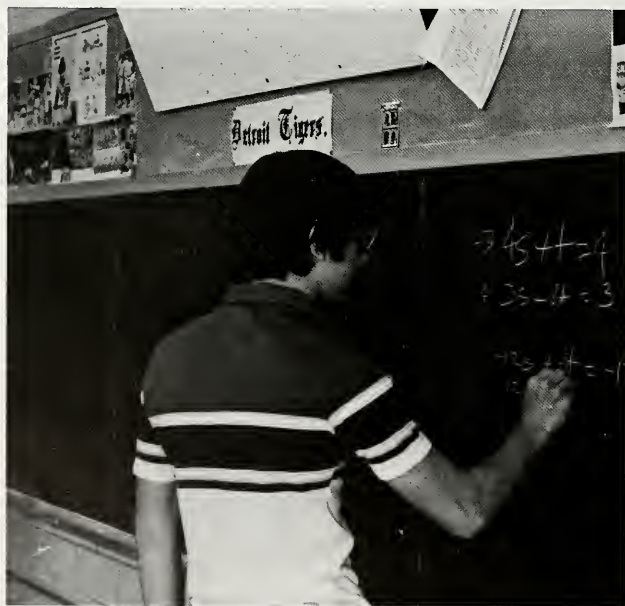

Computers Program Math Students

Everything from addition to integrals was covered by Mr. Brown, Mr. Dubach, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Rinkenberger.

As always the goal of the Math department was to teach the students to apply their knowledge instead of being "plugger-inners."

The knowledge of numbers is becoming an important part of today's computerized society. Several students brought their computers in to introduce the concepts to their classmates.

Jeff Smitley seems convinced the end of the day can't come soon enough.

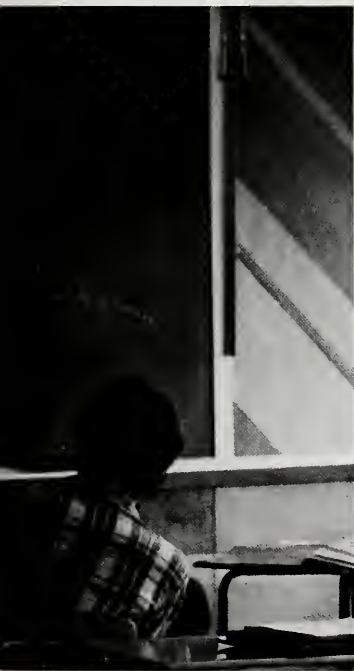

Dan Nelson tries solving algebraic equations; could "s" really equal 14 million?

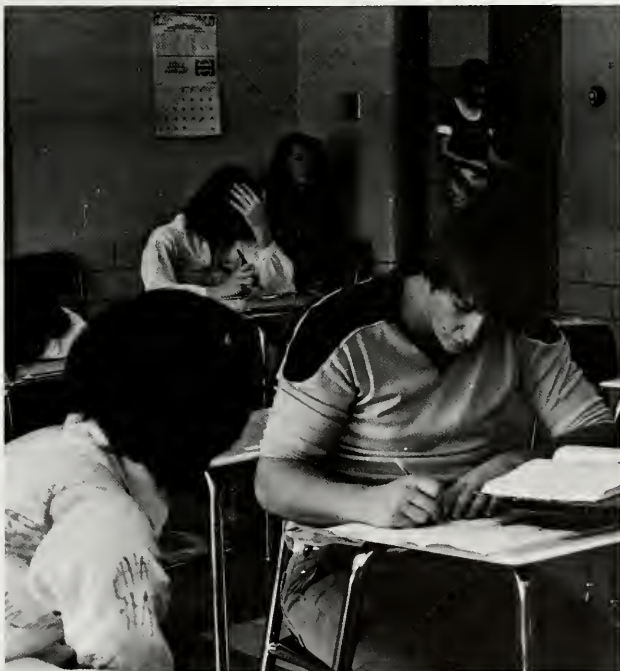

Doesn't our salutatorian look intelligent? (LaNae Smitley)

Calculus proves to be difficult as you can see, while Mr. Rinkberger explains the complex problem on the board.

While Kent Richards figures the algebraic equation, Chris Braun curiously waits for the answer.

World Situation Shapes Discussions

Mr. Taylor and his world history students discuss the Iranian situation.

This year Social Studies students traveled to Washington to actually visit where the leaders handle governmental functions. The opportunity allowed juniors and seniors to absorb as much of the Washington atmosphere as they possibly could in ten hours.

Throughout the year, the juniors presented two book reports, watched the movies "Patton" and "Helter Skelter" and discussed historical topics of interest.

The seniors, however, heard one speaker, Mr. Bill Fraizer, who spoke and showed a movie on the Salt Talks. Much of the time was devoted to becoming familiar with the working of all three levels of government — local, state and federal. Each student's responsibility as a citizen was stressed during lectures and discussion.

Mr. Glass explains how the NAACP was founded.

Helping two of his students on map identification, Mr. Glass looks on disgustedly.

While his students work on the next day's assignment, Mr. Glass confers with fellow Social Studies teacher Mr. Taylor.

Andy Lehman crams for his states' and capitals' test.

Science Challenges Many Minds

General Science, Biology, Advanced Biology, Chemistry, Advanced Chemistry, and Physics are the courses in Science offered to Adams Central students. Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Allspaw shared responsibilities, with Mr. Hubbard instructing both Biology classes and Mr. Allspaw the remainder.

Biology offered a study of the life sciences, as did the Advanced Biology class. Advanced Biology went a step further and studied physiology and anatomy.

Chemistry students spent their time learning symbols and doing experiments. Physics students explored motion, energy, and electricity.

Lisa Oliver shows her true feelings about dissecting frogs in Biology.

Mr. Hubbard explains the structure of "Mister Bones."

Lou Ann Aschliman gives a "charge" to the Physics class with her "shocking" pose.

LaNae Smitley studies Twila Gerber's tonsils during a study of anatomy in Advanced Biology.

Problems in Physics boggle the mind of Steve Myers.

Kathi Abbott "supports" Penny Vanhorn while she studies her Chemistry.

New Assets In Business

ICE participant Sandy Beer handles her job as receptionist at Monroe Grain.

This year has been a year for changes in the business department. Two new teachers joined the business staff — Mrs. Campbell and Mr. Oeschle. In their classes, students learned that neatness, speed, and accuracy really counts in the business world. Such things were stressed as to use inkpens neatly in accounting work, to type quickly but not sloppily, and to not look at their fingers while typing. Bookkeeping students were given chances to prove their skills and knowledge by doing several "packets" in the course of the year.

The Co-op class, which was taught by Mr. Oeschle, was a class that offered a unique learning experience. It gave students the opportunity to learn on the job training, by actually working half of the school day, after school, and often times weekends also. Planning special projects, figuring income taxes, and talking about safety at work and problems on their jobs, the class was given an excellent chance to learn more about the business world.

Beth Kipfer glances over at Jill Johnson's and Amy Ross's bookkeeping to see if she is keeping pace.

Mr. Oeschle ponders over a question asked by one of his students.

Students in Mrs. Campbell's Accounting II class labor studiously over a particularly difficult test.

Kathy Wolfe desperately erases a mistake during a timed production test.

Bruce Gagle and Dan Weber use calculators to find answers to their Accounting problem.

"Yo Hablo Español!"

Mrs. McKenzie explains a verb conjugation to her students.

"Esto clase es emocionante!" This statement was heard in all of the Spanish classes this year as the students participated in all sorts of fun as well as educational activities. For the first year students, a whole different world of new sounds and words was opened to them. The second year students were challenged by harder words and phrases as they welcomed their new books. In the first semester, the third and fourth year students had a chance to practice oral conversation with Mr. Hough who lived in South America for 18 years. They also made several Spanish and Mexican dishes.

All of the Spanish students took several field trips to different exciting places. They went to a Mexican restaurant where they enjoyed some of the delicacies of Mexico, and on another occasion they went to Indianapolis to see flamenco dancing, featuring Jose Greco, a world-renowned flamenco dancer.

Students do more than just study spanish during class study time.

Getting information for the school newspaper about the Spanish club trip to Mexico, Cheryl Bailey interviews Mrs. McKenzie.

German Is "Wunderbar"!

Tammie Gilliom and Miss Swartzendruber prepare a Gugelhupf, a German cake to bake in the "magic oven."

Special projects for the first year German class included singing (in German of course) and making a Gugelhupf cake, which Miss Swartzendruber bakes in her "magic" oven.

In the second and third year classes each person gave reports on some aspect of Germany. They also enjoyed Kaffee Klatch, a German tea party, every other week.

All three classes viewed several German films this year and found German class to be interesting as well as educational.

Michele Coalson and Penny Vanhorn find Cheryl Bailey's German report fascinating.

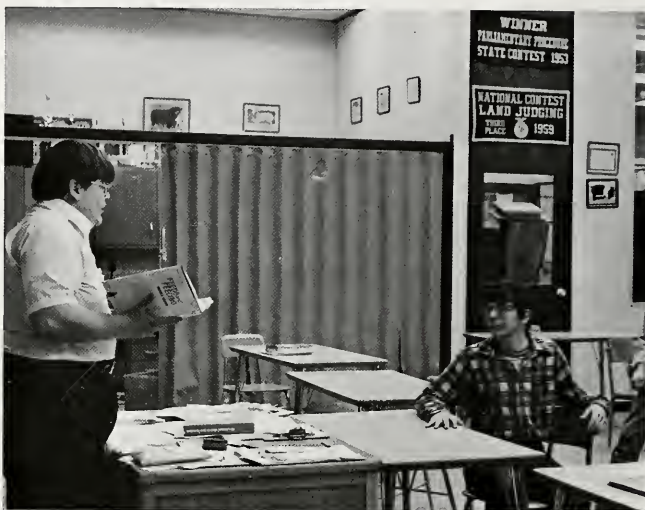

Miss Swartzendruber is caught off guard by the photographer during German class.

Seniors Plan Farm Shop

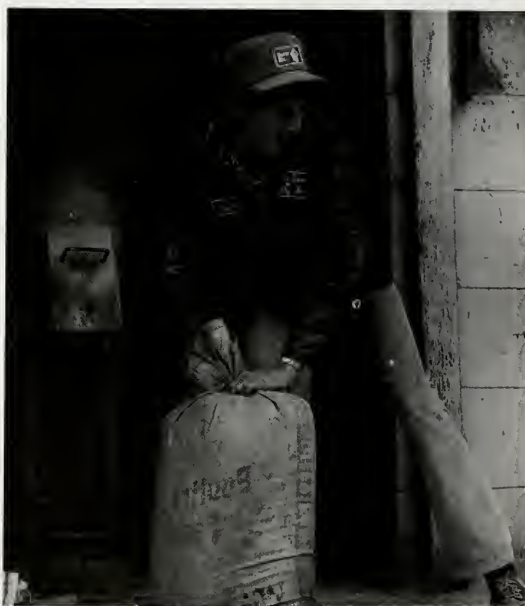

Jeff Butler listens intently as Mr. Merillat lectures on various types of livestock feed.

The Agriculture classes took two major trips this year. One trip was to the Berne and Geneva Consignment Sales, and the other was to the Farm Progress Show in Crawfordsville, Indiana.

For their Ag. project, the seniors drew plans for a farm shop. Other in-class movies and activities rounded out the year for the Ag. classes.

After a hard test, several students relax for the last five minutes of class.

Randy Ringger reveals that being on Ag Co-op isn't all fun and games.

Mr. Merrillat gives a gesture of helplessness after suffering another verbal attack from Lori Becher.

FFA Sweetheart — Lou Ann Aschliman

Scott Taylor promotes the Ag program by giving a soil judging demonstration.

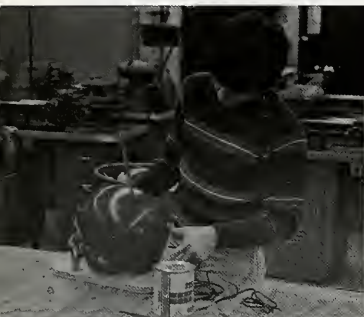

Ag Co-op student Mark Donaghy sacks grain on the job at the Farm Bureau Co-op elevator.

Industrial Arts: Learning By Doing

Putting the finishing touches on his football helmet lamp stand is Mike Gremaux.

Even though Ken McCullough and Stan Bebout are hard at work, Daren James decides to take a breather.

Using power tools is just one thing that Chris Braun learned in Building Trades.

Metal work provides Kim Mailloux and Tom Schwaller with an opportunity to make personal projects.

Chris Cook dismantles a lawn mower engine in Mr. Stepp's class.

Many students never have the opportunity to create their own dream house or actually build that special project. Many never learn the art of welding or soldering or how a circuit functions. Most never have the distinctions of helping to print a school newspaper or basketball program.

Yet AC industrial art students did all of these activities and more. Tearing down small engines and repairing them in Mr. Stepp's class, producing scaled drawings in Mr. Hakes' drafting classes and working with metals in Mr. Borger's classes all played a big part in the students' education.

A complete understanding of industrial arts and all that it dealt with enabled students to see that, as Mr. Hakes says, "The whole fabric of society rests upon labor."

Sue Myers works on the framework of her contemporary home in Building Trades.

New Course Helps Plan For Future

Rene Reidenbach suggests questions for her group to ask the guests during "What's My Line."

Preparing plans for the future is one of the most difficult tasks a high school student faces. Career Education courses were introduced into the curriculum to help students do just that. Ninety-three students took advantage of this opportunity by participating in class activities that helped them understand more about themselves.

Every student was broken down into one of six personality types thru several activities, including an interest inventory that was fed into a computer. Field trips, class discussions, and many worksheets all were combined to aid the student just beginning to mold his future.

Kim Snyder (alias Quincy) performs an autopsy on Deb Lambert as Trudi Colter assists to demonstrate different personality types.

Donna Hack clips magazine pictures to make a personal collage.

Home Ec. Students Kept Active

Sandy Beer and Jackie Archer listen intently as Miss Swartzendruber lists the advantages of being single.

The 1979-80 school year was a busy one for the Home Economics students.

The freshmen devoted their time to interpersonal relations and consumer education. Mrs. Helen Hakes presented hints on hair care and make-up tips.

The sophomores divided their time between childcare and sewing. For child development they made toys and they each brought their favorite little friends for games and observation.

Centering in on food, nutrition and interior design, the juniors tackled several different projects from working in their food labs to creating their dream houses.

The seniors concentrated on preparing themselves for the future. They dealt with sex, marriage, money management, insurance, and meal management. They also joined the juniors on a trip to "The Factory" and the "Home and Patio Show."

Singles living offered cooking, basic sewing, and planned parenthood to both sexes.

Sophomore girls observe Mrs. Gilbert's daughter in their childcare class.

An active year in P.E. was spent doing such things as swimming, acrobatics, track, football, basketball and weightlifting. Also swimmers earned their swim cards by taking tests during their classtime. Students in all P.E. classes listened and learned as EMT's came in to teach them basic CPR. At the end of the course, they received cards testifying that they had satisfied the requirements.

Advanced P.E. students participated in several interesting sports this year. Camping, bowling, biking, hiking and swimming were a few on their agenda.

Rainy weather brings a ninth grade class into the gym for an old-fashioned game of "dodge ball."

Health And P.E.

A refreshing dip in the pool is always followed by the agony of getting hair dried and still not be late for class.

Senior cadet teacher Rick Childs demonstrates indoor hockey techniques.

Mrs. Carr checks Ronda Byerly's sling for proper fit during the first-aid unit.

Rhoda Longenberger and Bruce Gagle find square dancing a "tolerable" P.E. activity.

... Exercise And Instruction

Sophomores practice their CPR knowledge on "Resuscitating Annie."

"I never knew that before!" said many of the students who took health. They learned many new things and reviewed old ones as they studied things like physical fitness, consumer marketing, and muscles and bones. They learned to deal with death and new life by studying the human body. They also studied new relationships, love, sex, and marriage. The first semester's health classes held make-believe weddings and pretended that they lived together and had children.

Other important subjects they discussed that will affect the rest of their lives were alcohol and drugs. They also read first aid books and those who finished all four and passed the test received a red cross first aid card.

Thirteen experienced seniors guided the choir through a very busy school year.

The second annual Madrigal Feast was held and was a huge success, as shown by the audience.

Soloists Jeff Speakman and Max Barger and the Sextet earned first division status at the state contest.

In December, the annual Christmas Concert was given before a sizable crowd.

The Men's Quartet was very active as they performed before church groups and social organizations.

The swing choir brought home another plaque to hang on the wall when they were awarded a first division rating at the NISBOVA contest.

In February, preparations began for the choir's production of "OKLAHOMA!". This was a very time consuming project and, by the time it was all over, the school year came quickly to a close.

Jet Band . . . Small But Mighty

The concert band performs the majestic song "Kensington" at the Christmas concert.

"Left, Left, left, right, left" was heard at the beginning of the year as Mr. Long took the band outside during school band period. Many long practice was held to prepare the small but mighty Jets band for a half time show to perform during the football games.

A jazz band was organized and they played for the Lions Club. Three concerts were given by the concert band and then organized a group to assist in the music department's presentation of "OKLAHOMA."

Several students also participated in NISBOVA instrument competition. Michelle Coalson received a first in first division and went on to state competition where she received a second.

Teachers On The Go

This past year has been a busy one for the teachers. Ticket taking at ballgames, PTA, and club sponsoring as well as other activities have kept them on the go.

In the sparse amount of leisure time left over, the teachers have managed to pursue their own personal interests such as boxing, farming, coin collecting, and quilting, to name a few. The new teachers, too, have some of their own personal interests: Mrs. Campbell likes to do crewel work, Mr. Oechsle likes to listen to music, and Mrs. Wharton enjoys singing.

Necessary People Behind The Scenes

There were a few changes this year in the cafeteria including the seemingly traditional rise in the lunch price, this time from 60¢ to 65¢. A salad bar was set up at the beginning of the second semester; also this year the students had a choice of 2 lines. One served the entire meal, and the other gave the student a choice of 3 of the offered foods.

The nurses, Rosemary Bleeke and Karen Kaehr, helped keep the students healthy by running different tests on vision, TB, and something new this year, scoliosis (back curvature). They also aided in the paperwork for immunizations the students grades K-12 received from the county nurses.

Bus mechanic Dale Bieberich, aided by Senior Marlin Bowman, helped keep the 23 busses in top condition this year, including the 2 new busses.

While most jobs at the school are for 9 months, the janitors are here year-round. They were not only at school during the day, but also nights, vacations, and extra-curricular activities.

THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE brought excitement to many middle school and elementary students ...

... It was a time for elementary students to begin or continue their education ... to learn basic fundamentals that would carry them through the rest of their school years and through the rest of their lives ... to experience new adventures ... to encounter new friends and learn to cope with new situations ...

... Gaining more in knowledge as well as in age, middle school students were able to think more seriously about making their own decisions ... selecting their own classes ... thinking more of what their future would hold ...

... All this and more convinced elementary and middle school students to look forward to THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE ... 1980.

Eighth Grade Volleyball Team

Coach Jon Smith felt that the 1979 Middle School Cross Country Team was one of the most successful ever at Adams Central. The team had a record of 14-0 with 8th grade 10-0 and 7th grade 4-0. Leaders for the season were Roger Fox and Tracy Zurcher. Lisa Creque lead the 7th grade although she was just a sixth grader. The team worked very hard all year which resulted in a great season.

The 7th and 8th grade Volleyball Teams led by Coach Becky Brown completed good seasons. 8-A finished 7-3 while 8-B won 3 and lost 5. 7-A ended 5-4, and 7-B won 3 games and lost 5. Mrs. Brown felt that the 8th grade was the best fundamentally that she had ever coached.

Middle School Groups have been very active this year. The 7th and 8th grade bands have put on several different concerts that their audiences have thoroughly enjoyed listening to. The beginner 6th grade band learned to play their new instruments with proficiency and accuracy.

Two more important groups were the Student Council and Newspaper Staff. The Student Council met regularly and planned special activities for their fellow students. Published monthly, the newspaper, called "What's Happening" kept students informed and entertained.

The Eighth grade girls' choir learned to harmonize with each other by singing popular songs of today and then performed at the spring concert.

The 1979-80 school year proved to be very successful for the eighth graders. Their football team captured the county championship and tied for the ACAC conference title. The eighth graders were also well represented at the middle school spelling bee. Sharla Vandeventer won the contest, and Janean Isch was runner-up. In the basketball competition, the eighth grade walked away with both the ACAC and the county championships.

Algebra challenged several eighth grade math students this year, as they were allowed to take the course for high school credit. Other class projects this year included written and oral reports on U.S. Presidents in Social Studies, and ten-page autobiographies for English.

Being in 7th grade brought changes for many students. They were able to choose from a variety of different courses, and whether it was creating their own battery in Science class or sewing a shirt in Home Ec., girls and boys alike were learning something new and different every day.

"Energetic" seems to be the best word to describe the seventh graders as they had an excellent showing in all of their sporting events. But the highlight of the year for most of the seventh graders was in the spring when they participated in a playday where they were able to show their true athletic ability.

Learning a variety of topics in mini-courses, the 6th graders visited the Historical Museum, Adams County Jail and Courthouse in Decatur. They also participated in a bowling program during first hour where they learned the correct way to keep score and then traveled to Berne to bowl two games each. Many other subjects were taught in the mini-course program: photography, rocketing, stamp collecting, small engines, and others.

The 6th graders were recognized for their achievements on Activity Day. The four different sections competed against each other in athletic contests and realized that being in Middle School brought them a lot of advantages.

Mr. Dubach appears shocked at his eighth graders response to problems on the metric system.

Middle School is truly an experience and this year was no exception. Sixth graders spent their year in various mini-courses, studying each for seven week periods. Topics ranged from crafts to bowling to the study of birds, among others.

Seventh graders faced Career Education for the first time as well as the usual Math, Science and English. Doing experiments in Science class and special projects in Math and English occupied their time.

Eighth graders prepared themselves for high school by absorbing as much from their teachers and classes as possible. Creating string drawings, memorizing the Presidents, and conjugating verbs all helped conclude their Middle School experiences.

Numerous Changes Complicate Year

This year there were seven changes to the Elementary teaching staff. The grade school faculty consisted of twenty-nine members. The teachers laid down the groundwork for the elementary students further education by teaching them the basic fundamental tools along with new and interesting ideas. By utilizing different and innovative methods, the staff was able to compel their pupils to learn more effectively.

This year the fifth graders didn't just go to school and study writing, reading, and arithmetic but they also participated in some very exciting activities. For example, each week a student from each section was a "Superfriend." During this time the student told about his life and brought pictures of himself. Then once a month a non-student Superfriend, such as one of the fifth grade teachers, shared about their life.

The fifth graders also produced a T.V. production on Samuel Clemens, held a tea for their mothers, competed in a spelling bee, and created during a Colonial Craft's Day.

But they didn't spend all their time at school; they also took two field trips. The students visited the Children's Museum in Indianapolis and the Planetarium at Bellmont.

The fourth grade had a busy year. They studied the Pioneer Period of America, and, during Pioneer Day, they participated in activities and games common to that era of time.

Various activities were planned as special events in different classes. For example, a representative from McDonalds brought a series of films covering bicycle safety for health class. Another class project for English took place around Mother's Day. Each student wrote their favorite recipe combined to form a cookbook, which was given to the mothers for Mother's Day.

The third grade studied Indians, space, and nutrition during special units. In these units the students enjoyed participating in special activities.

During the Indian Unit each teacher taught about a certain tribe. Each class moved from one teacher to another to learn about each tribe. They also constructed a tee pee and totem poles.

The Space Unit included a study of the planets during which they constructed six foot paper machet rockets.

During the Nutrition Unit they made butter by putting cream in jars. Then the jars were passed around and each student shook it. Mrs. James demonstrated how to make homemade bread, then they ate homemade bread and butter.

The students also took their annual field trip to the Shrine Circus.

First graders Darin Ringger, Mike Hill, Michele Byrd and Jodi Cauble show what life was like in the 1600's.

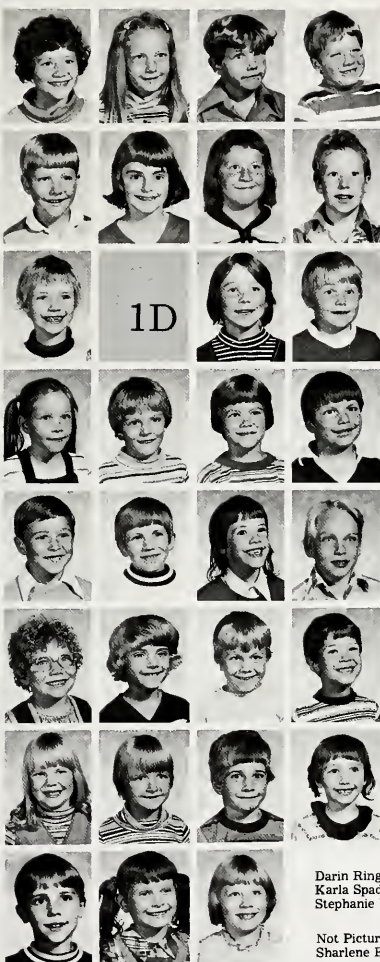

The thrill of victory keeps Chad Curry going in the annual Elementary cross-country race.

This was first grade's year for changes with teachers. They started the year with one new teacher — Miss Bonham, and ended up with two more new teachers — Miss Spahr, taking Mrs. Smith's place, and Mrs. Lehman taking Mrs. August's place. But nevertheless the year still carried on.

In the fall they traveled to Ossian and visited Donaghy's

Orchard to pick apples. They took their apples to the Schwartz Cider Mill and watched as it was made into cider; then they headed back to the school and had a cider sipping party. For Thanksgiving they prepared a dinner of venison, succotash, pumpkin bread, and they had a bounceberry party. They ended their year with a country fair.

Mrs. Ross' class gathers around her to hear a story.

Jon Fisher displays his enthusiasm for recess.

The beginning of a child's education started in kindergarten. They learned all about manners, their body machine and how it works, along with the A.B.C.'s, and numbers.

Around Christmas they had a special treat. Mrs. Antoinette Lee, from Korea came and talked about Christmas and the New Year's Day in her home country.

They finished up the year with a picnic at the Berne Park.

THE BEGINNING OF A DEC-ADE brought insecurity to the world and growing concern to our community ... Global problems — the Russian invasion of Afghanistan and the hostages in Iran — made tomorrow's dreams only a nightmare ... Higher prices for everything — food, gasoline, electricity, clothes — forced everyone to tighten their budgets.

... Inflation even caught up with the school atmosphere ... School lunches increased ... The cost of everything students wanted, to make their growing years more bearable, skyrocketed ... Even the cost of this publication increased with the price of silver leading the way to force film and processing higher and higher ...

... Now, more than ever, the continued success of CENTRAILS depended upon those Monroe, Berne, Decatur, Bluffton and area patrons who have supported our school and our students ... Our only hope is that YOU still support them ...

... As AC students left school at the close of each day, they confronted the outside world and THE BEGINNING OF A DEC-ADE ... 1980.

Editor's Note

Each Cen-trails has marked the passing of time while this one marks the Beginning of a Decade, for this I thank all who helped make this book possible.

... to Mr. Markley who was very patient with all our trials and tribulations, and gave willingly of his time.

... to my editors, Tracy

Longenberger and Donna Hack for their hard work and dedication.

... to my photographers who worked for perfection toward a good quality yearbook.

... to our advertisers who without their support, this yearbook could not be published.

... to my staff who worked diligently to complete all deadlines.

... to Brad Affolder and the Decatur Daily Democrat for supplying us with pictures when we needed them.

Now I must end this edition of Cen-trails but I hope that each following edition of the 80's will brighten and bring hope to all who read it.

God bless

Pam Miller
